COLUMBIA, ADAIR COUNTY, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1916.

NUMBER 49

SKETCHES.

Geo. W. Whitlock.

This week we speak of a traveling salesman who has not been so many years on the road as his competitors, but he is as well acquainted as the most of them. For four years he has been traveling for A. Wahking & Co., Louisville, and he has been very successful, his trade increasing as the years come and go. He visits the merchants in several counties, and is personally known to all of them. There is not a hamlet in Green county but knows Geo. W. Whitlock. For years he was a prominent and very successful merchant at Fry, people trading with him from all the surrounding country. When he went on the road he took up his residence in Campbellsville, it being the most central point. Besides representing the wholesale house mentioned, he is interested in a retail business in his home town. He is popular with every body, due to the courteous manner in which he does business. Socially, he is a very companionable gentleman, and his word is his bond. There is no friction between him and his competitors. It is half fellow; well met with them all. His acquaintance in Adair covers all the business points, and his visits to the county are cordially received.

Mr. Whitlock has a wife and several children and he takes a great delight in working for them. We trust that the prosperity that he is now enjoying will continue with him until the end of his existence, and when he has finished his work here below, he will hear the welcome plaudit, enter in and sit at My right.

Farm for Sale.

I wish to sell my farm of 107 acres, one-quarter mile from Kell's Shop post office and store. Close to school and church. Lays well. Well fenced, plenty of good running water, also well. Good barn, one tenant house, good out building, good residence, good orchard. About 60 acres under cultivation, 47 acres good timber. Known as the Calvin Acre farm. Call or write me at Kell's Shop, Ky.

A Series of Meetings.

Rev. J. B. DeGarmo, a noted evangelist of Mississippi, will assist Pastor Bush in a protracted meeting to commence at the Baptist church, this place, the first Sunday in November or the last Sunday in this month. Let everybody get ready to enjoy the services.

Millinery Opening.

If you would see all that's new and beautiful in fall and winter hats, call at our millinery parlors Tuesday evening, October the 3rd from 7 to 9. Mrs. George Staples.

Rev. O. P. Bush closed a very interesting meeting in Russell county last week. It was held with a Church about three miles from Jamestown. While there was only one addition, the Church was greatly revived, and the attendance fine. On the 9th of this month Rev. Bush will begin a meeting at Milltown.

There will be services in the United Brethren church Sunday morning, 11 a. m., topic, "True Service," in the evening 7:30 p. m., "A Model Congregation," by Rev. C. H. Shad, of Georgia, Fla., U. B. Conference. All are invited.

Monday week circuit court will commence at Jamestown. Patrons of the News will be given an opportunity to see a representative of this paper on the square.

We understand that there will be quite a lot of business in the Russell circuit court which will convene at Jamestown Monday week.

Will Turk, of Sparksville, was thrown by a mule last Wednesday, breaking his right leg between the knee and thigh.

Adair county is thoroughly wet. Big rain last Thursday.

Wake Up.

The first and second days of November is the time agreed on to open the road on the dug hill on the grade established by the survey. Jules Sheppard and Ellis have been selected to take charge of the work and both of them have agreed to do so. They will go over the survey in a few days to determine what is necessary to be done and will map out a course of action which will be published as soon as possible. Heretofore we have called attention to the importance of this movement and we trust that the people of Columbia as well as those living on the road will respond in an unstinted manner. Too long Columbia has already waited for development, waited for business that never comes: too long we have whittled cedar and hoped for better business conditions without making an energetic move to improve. As matters now stand we must get busy or share the same handicaps in the future as in the past. Between Neatsville and the top of Dug Hill a distance of one and a half miles, the road is rough, steep and almost impossible the greater part of the year. Beyond Neatsville to Casey county the road is fine, a large part of it being gravelled, and from the top of the hill to Columbia or to the terminus of the new pike is fine nine months in the year.

If the road is opened on the established grade on this hill it would afford a splendid auto outlet as well as inlet to a fertile part of this country as well as to the bluegrass counties of the State. This work means much to the upper end of the county, much to the people along the road and equally as much to the business interests of Columbia.

All ought to welcome this movement and all ought to assist. If you can't join in the work give money other valuable aid. If the road is opened on the survey the people directly interested will give the gravel.

If Your Motto Be, Lie, Steal, Drink and Swear.

When you lie, lie down in sweet slumber; when you steal, steal always from bad associates; when you drink, drink nothing but cold water; when you swear, swear that you will try those shoes at Albin Murray's. 49-It.

The dedication of the Campbellsville Baptist Church will take place October 29th. Dr. J. W. Porter, editor of the Western Recorder, and pastor of the First Baptist church of Lexington, will preach the Dedication sermon. The neighboring churches in and out of the Russell Creek Association are cordially invited to attend the services, and dinner will be served in the church, basement—Campbellsville News-Journal.

Fall Millinery Opening.

Our formal opening will occur next Friday and Saturday. May we have the pleasure of serving you? The smartest and most exclusive styles at right prices.

Mrs. L. W. Atkins.

J. E. Gowdy, one of our esteemed citizens, sustained a sprained hip and knee last Thursday afternoon about 3 o'clock, while attempting to jump over a wire fence at the rear of his home on Jackson street. While the injury is not a serious one, yet it is very painful. We hope Mr. Gowdy will soon recover.—Campbellsville News-Journal.

It is said that Mr. V. M. Gowdy, who recently purchased the property where Mr. Geo. E. Wilson lives, is making preparations to build a large warehouse on the back end of the lot. His main store building will not be erected until next year. It is to be a commodious brick, and will front the pike.

Fine music at the Paramount Theater every show night, piano, cornet and violin. Mr. Geo. W. Lowe, Mr. Walter Sullivan and Miss Frona Faulkner make the music.

Mr. W. E. McCandless has purchased Mrs. E. P. Harris' residence, on Greensburg street, and will be given possession soon. Consideration, $1,950.

Jeff Jones Indicted for Murder.

It will be remembered that three weeks ago Frank Holt was killed near Pellyton, this county, and at the same time a report gained circulation that a tree fell on him causing the fatality.

In a day or two parties living in the neighborhood came to the conclusion that Holt had been murdered, and it was also reported that Jeff Jones was generally suspected as the guilty party. An investigation was started, the body being disinterred and an examination made by Drs. C. M. Russell, J. S. Miller and L. C. Nell. Their report was submitted to the grand jury, circuit court being in session, and last Tuesday an indictment was returned, charging Jones with murder. His bail was fixed at $1,500 which, up to this time, he has failed to furnish. All the testimony is circumstantial.

Strayed.

From my home near Columbia, a black boar hog, weight about 130 pounds. No marks.

49-2t J. H. Young.

Foot Ball Game.

Lindsey-Wilson will open the foot ball season here Saturday week with the Bloomfield High School. It is expected that this team should be one that will interest the local boys as Bloomfield is a town about the size of Columbia and they have a star from Georgetown College to coach them who will also play in the game. The Lindsey Wilson has been practicing hard and should be in good form. They have more heavy men than they had last year, and the men are more the same size. Last year some of them were very large and some rather small.

Lost.

Red cow, 10 years old, dehorned, marked in both ears, thin in order. Last heard of she was near Joppa. Will pay $5.00 for information.

E. D. Wheeler, Sparksville, Ky.

49-2t

Last Wednesday morning, as Dr. Garlin Grissom was riding in town the back end of the mail car struck his horse, high up on the hip, cutting a very ugly gash which had to be closed with stitches. It will take the wound some time to heal.

S. A. Hatcher sold George Butler 64 acres of land, a part of the Joshua Hatcher farm, for $1,450.

He Likes The News.

My Dear Brother:

We take the liberty to publish your letter for we get more kicks than pats, more frowns than smiles, more criticisms than praise, and yet our main efforts have been and will continue to be honest, faithful and helpful service to our section of country—a land that needs only the touch of enterprise to make it bloom as the rose.

Your manner of expression your candor and sense of justice for our people, but honest efforts to serve well those who ought to appreciate the News, as a home paper, bespeak much more than ordinarily comes to us even from friends who dwell in the midst and surroundings of this congenial clime. May you live long and be happy, and may we some day enjoy a clasp of your hand and have you break bread with us under our own vine and fig tree, is our sincere wish.

Adair County News:

Enclosed find $1.00 for which please enter my subscription. If your subscription price has raised kindly let me know on enclosed postal and I will promptly remit amount necessary for a year's subscription.

I dropped my subscription to a number of papers last spring, but I am going to come back for your paper. It is so full of the simple country life that I have missed its weekly visits, although personally, I do not know a single person in Adair county. But its news items are about the country people and country life that I love so well, and I have come, through one year's subscription, to know much of Adair county and its good people. No paper published in any of our large cities can reach the point of picturing country life as you do.

R. H. Wilmer

From Tuesday at noon till Saturday evening I will pay 30 cents per dozen for nice, clean, fresh eggs, every egg candled.

D. M. Moore, 49 It Garlin, Ky.

Red Berkshire.

The red Berkshire sow bought by the following gentleman, J. W. Walker, C. G. Jeffries, N. M. Tutt, A. D. Patterson and C. S. Harris, now has eight beautiful pigs. This is the first red Berkshire ever brought to this county and all who have seen her are highly pleased. It is the purpose of the buyers to get the best of this breed of hogs and from the beginning no one need fear that an inferior hog will be purchased. They are now negotiating for a male of merit and later on will offer to the people of this section the hog that has so long been sought—the all purpose one, the one that has the fine texture of meat of the Berkshire, the beauty of the China and as prolific as the Duroc.

From Georgia.

Winder, Sept. 30, 1916.

Editor Harris:

We enclose check for two dollars, which takes us up to May 15, 1917, according to the statement. We thoroughly enjoy the News and hope the high price of paper will in no way mar the future of its circulation, as it seems we could hardly get along so well without it.

Success to the force.

Yours,

Mrs. Robert J. Pentecost.

The above speaks in tones that we appreciate and ought to echo from more than a thousand others who read The News. The high cost of paper forces us to advance the subscription price by a change in form and a reduction in its size, but as soon as conditions permit The News will appear in its regular size and form—an eight page six column paper.

Died on Casey Creek.

Last Friday, the 29th, ult., Mr. Jesse Absher, who was 85 years old and a good citizen, died at his late home on Casey's Creek, this county. He was a brother of Mr. Stephen Absher, and was a victim of typhoid fever. He leaves a wife and quite a number of relatives.

Road working is active in Russell county.

Progressing.

A meeting was held in the courthouse last Saturday and over $500.00 was subscribed for making the necessary surveys for the proposed railroad. On Monday this subscription was raised to $800.00. It will be necessary to raise $1,000 more before the work begins and an effort is now being made to secure it. If the people will give a small amount each to this fund it will soon be secured and the work started and no one will be hurt even if we fail to get the road. If we succeed in securing the road the amount subscribed to the survey will be credited on the amount pledged to the road. A failure to make the survey is death to our proposition and every interested party ought to contribute to the fund now being raised. Only a few more days will be spent in an effort to secure this money. The business interests of this county demand that we make every reasonable effort and sacrifice to secure the surveys. If we fail in this we lose all that has already been done.

For Sale.

How to Foretell Fine Weather.

If you want fine weather look for fine weather signs. Here are some of the most reliable, for they are based upon scientific facts:

When the sun sets in a sea of glory—that is, when the sunset sky is red—you may expect clear weather on the following day.

At night when the moon is clear and shows clear edges, with no halo or ring of mist surrounding it there is little danger of rain.

When the wind blows steadily from the west the weather will continue fair. It very rarely rains in most of the states with the wind in the west.

Watch the smoke from a chimney or from your campfire. It is a good barometer. If the smoke rises high it means clear weather. The smoke will also show you from which direction the wind is blowing; so will a flag on an upright flagstaff.

A gray early morning, not a heavy, cloudy one, promises a fair day.

A heavy dew at night is seldom followed by rain the next day. Think of it this way and you will remember: Wet feet, dry head.

If there are no clouds at the western horizon you need not worry about others.

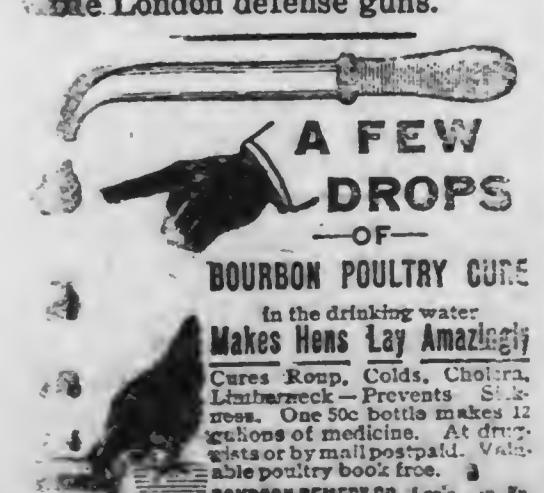

Animals are said often to show by their actions what the weather will be, and there is reason in this. Some of them certainly have a knowledge of coming storms. We are told that spiders are especially sensitive to weather changes and when they make new webs the weather will be fair; if they continue spinning during a shower it will soon clear off.—St. Nicholas.

Sloan's Liniment for Neuralgia Aches.

The dull throb of neuralgia is quickly relieved by Sloan's Liniment, the universal remedy for pain. Easy to apply, it quickly penetrates without irritating and soothes the sore muscles. Cleaner and more promptly effective than mussel plasters or ointment; does not stain the skin or clog the pores. For stiff muscles, chronic rheumatism, gout, lumbago, sprains and strains it gives quick relief. Sloan's Liniment reduces the pain and inflammation in insect bites, bruises, bumps and other minor injuries to children. Get a bottle to-day at Paull Drug Co., 25c. Adv.

Thirty people were killed and 110 injured by a Zeppelin raid on London. Two of the twelve Zeppelins were brought down by the London defense guns.

The Dead Sea.

We have heard of dead people, dead beasts, dead trees and dead flowers, but is there such a thing as a dead sea, and why do they call it dead? There is, and they call it dead because it receives all and gives nothing. This body of water—the most remarkable in the world—is at the southern end of the Jordan valley in Palestine. It is 47 miles long and 10 miles wide, 1,292 feet below the sea level and is one of the hottest regions on earth. It receives 5,000,000 tons of water daily into its bosom from the Jordan river, but gives none out to refresh and nourish the valley below which has become an arid desert on account of close fistedness of the sea. Its water is five times as salty as the water of the ocean, is bitter to the taste, oily to the touch, and leaves a yellow stain. Fish live in the water, no flowers bloom or fruits grow on its shores, no birds sing in its neighborhood. Its barkless driftwood and shores are incrusted with salt. Its setting is a scene of desolation and gloom, looking as if the curse of God rested on the whole region.

Despondency

When you feel discouraged and despondent do not give up but take a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets and you are almost certain to feel all right within a day or two. Despondency is very often due to indigestion and biliousness, for which these tablets are especially valuable. Obtainable at Paull Drug Co. Adv.

Style Tips.

Coat collars are uncommonly high.

Some of the new veils are edged with jet spangles, irregularly worked.

Fancy metal bands are coming in for millinery purposes.

The nose veil is very smart and may be seen all winter.

Colored linens are much used for children's dresses.

The cartridge plait is retained in the new French costumes.

Black net robes for evening are bordered with colored silk.

Broad bands of furs will be seen on the tunics of fall dresses.

Gold brocaded silk makes the prettiest of evening slippers.

Castor and gray are the best colors—after black—for shoes.

Broad-brimmed, high-crowned hats are in straw of two colors.

Mexican colored wool embroidery is much liked by French women.

The vogue for gray shoes has increased the demand for gray gloves.

Cyclamen-colored satin velvet with royal blue net is a new combination.

Coatees of white serge are made to be worn with navy taffeta dresses.

The modified circular skirt with belt is in high favor for tailored suits.

Russian blouses still hold their own.

Fur on linen blouses is the latest novelty.

Spanish scarfs in bright orange black are very becoming to brunettes.

Bits of Poultry Wisdom.

Tough grass is of no value as a green food. Better sow some quick growing crop.

Feed hoppers greatly reduce the work. If they are kept filled the chicks will never go hungry.

If your chicks are not doing well something is wrong. Look out for lice and for worms in the intestines.

Two-year-old hens had better be sent to the market. They seldom pay for their feed if kept over a third season.

Grit and oyster shells should be included in the ration for both young and old. To neglect this would be poor economy.

Young stock will do better if not compelled to pick their living with the old. There will also be less trouble from lice.

Shade is one of the most important essentials during the hot months. Get the chicks into the orchard and cornfield.

A growing chicks will not thrive on short rations. If the right kind of food is fed there is little danger of overfeeding, especially if they are given plenty of range.

"Take Time to Be Polite"

A Traveler in Japan, sending home her impressions, wrote, "I am struck by their beautiful politeness. The Japanese take time to be polite."

An elderly woman who listened to the letter said with a little sigh: "I wish our American girls would do that. It seems to me we used to give more attention to such things, though girls had plenty of work to do then. Why, it was only last summer," she continued reminiscingly, "I wrote to Betty Mason. Betty is the daughter of my dearest friend. She had some girls staying with her, and I invited her bring them over here some day. Betty never answered the note though I know she received it.

I was complaining about it to my niece, and Anna said carelessly: 'O, Betty and the girls were on the go every minute. I suppose she didn't have time. Not have time!" The elderly woman sniffed. "I'm not over being indignant yet. It wouldn't have taken five minutes to write a courteous note of regret. I love Betty, but I haven't quite forgiven her. We might learn some things of the Japanese."

The Post Card's Beginning.

Post cards appear to have originated in Austria where they were first used in 1869. When they first came into use messages written on them were limited to 20 words, the purpose of this regulation evidently being to prevent them from encroaching on other methods of communication which were more profitable to the government. Just a year later they were introduced in England.

The first picture post card, it is said, made its appearance in 1891. Cards bearing sentiments appropriate to Christmas and other festive days originated over 70 years ago.

It is related that an English artist, W. A. Dobson, hit upon the idea of sending to a friend whom he wished to remember a card bearing a sketch significant of the spirit of Christmas. This was exhibited among the recipient's friends who admired it greatly and begged for a copy or another card as beautiful.

The next year the artist made a new design and had it lithographed. In a short time other artists were painting Christmas cards and the idea kept growing. At length a business man, realizing the possibilities of picture post cards, began putting them on the market in large quantities.

While the craze for them in this country appears to have waned somewhat of late, picture cards and cards bearing sentiments in keeping with Christmas and other important holidays are still widely used. Millions of them are handled in the mails every year.

Wilson and Lincoln.

President Wilson recently paid a visit to the birth-place of Abraham Lincoln, and in his speech there said it should be a shrine of American patriotism. Lincoln preserved the Union and for that achievement he has gone into history as one of the greatest Presidents of the nation. Woodrow Wilson is the first President since Lincoln who has been confronted with as many grave problems as the great war President. The one preserved the Union, the other has preserved peace. The one by a heroic struggle laid the foundation of the greatest nation on earth. The other, confronted with the world at war, has kept the United States at peace. While Europe is running red with blood the United States is running yellow with gold. As Lincoln was criticized and abused while he was working out the salvation of the country, so has Wilson been criticized and abused while he was standing for the protection of American rights, which has aroused the hostility of the German-Americans and the abuse of the jingoes and the American land and mine owners in Mexico because he would not go to war with that helpless country. As it required courage and intelligence of the highest order on the part of Mr. Lincoln, in the face of the most severe censure, to work out successfully the great problems of his Administration, so it has required courage and intelligence upon the part of Wilson, in the face of equally severe censure to keep this country at peace with all of its attendant blessing and privileges. In 1864 when Mr. Lincoln was renominated for President the Democratic party ran McClellan against him simply as an opposition candidate. It even went so far as to declare that the war had been a failure. What was the result? Mr. Lincoln appealed to the patriotism of the people and the people answered this appeal by every State in the entire union casting its electoral vote for him.

The campaign this fall is very similar to the one of 1864. The Democratic party points to the preservation of peace as a great achievement as the preservation of the Union. President Wilson's appeal is to the patriotism and not partyism. While on the other hand, Mr. Hughes' campaign is simply one of opposition declaring that Wilson's Administration has been a failure, and while McClellan declared the war had been a failure, Hughes declares that peace has been a failure. Mr. Wilson deserves to win in 1916 like Mr. Lincoln won in 1864 by the patriotic response of the electors in every State in the Union. To have turned Lincoln down in 1864 would have been a declaration that the war was a failure; to turn down Wilson in 1916 will be a declaration that peace is a failure.—Elizabethtown News.

WOODROW WILSON,

For Vice President.

THOMAS R. MARSHALL,

For Congress.

HARVEY HELM,
of Lincoln County.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

For Sheriff.

We are authorized to announce W. B. PAT-TESON a candidate for Sheriff of Adair County, subject to the action of the Republican primary of 1917.

Thirty three days from the date of this paper until the November election. Democrats should get busy and stay busy until the polls close. This country is in better condition to-day than at any other time in the history of the nation. Prosperity came with the election of Woodrow Wilson to the Presidency. If the farmers and mechanics and all other laboring men want this prosperity to continue they should vote for his re-election.

The Campbellsville News-Journal, heretofore an independent paper, came out last week in favor of Democracy, and from now until the election will heartily support the Democratic ticket, National and Congressional. The editor came to a wise conclusion for two reasons. First, because Democratic principles are the only safe guard to human liberty. Second, because Taylor county is about two hundred Democratic.

Senator O. M. James, in an interview, given out in Louisville, last Wednesday night, states that the opposition to President Wilson, east and west, has about disappeared.

The five Republican Congressmen of Illinois, who voted for the President's eight hour a day bill, were renominated, their opponents making that the issue.

It is just a month until the election. Let it be a month of ceaseless work for the Democratic party and there will be no interruption of the patriotic program mapped out by the greatest of Presidents who has during one of the most difficult periods of the country's history steered the ship of state with steady hand and courageous heart.

RAILROAD MEN FOR WILSON.

At a meeting of railroad trainmen, held in Louisville, last Tuesday night, after resolving to support Woodrow Wilson, Sigmond A. Lee, State Chairman of the campaign committee of railroaders, said:

"It is the railroad men's purpose to wage an active campaign for the election of Woodrow Wilson. Mr. Hughes has spent the greater part of his public life in either vetoing laws passed in behalf of the American people, or rendering opinions which enslaved, if not entirely destroyed their organizations. It took an amendment to the anti-trust laws to save the working man from being classed as a commodity instead of a human being with a just right to live under fair and reasonable conditions. President Woodrow Wilson signed that amendment. The railroad men consider Justice Hughes the most dangerous enemy the American laborer has ever known. If Hughes by some dreadful calamity should ever reach the White House, he would kick the eight-hour law into the Potomac river and crucify the American workmen on Capitol Hill. I charge the American laborer—I charge the brotherhood men to be alert lest they awake too late, for with Hughes at the throttle with four years to run, your burden will be heavy and your chances slim.

The Brotherhood men of Kentucky are for Woodrow Wilson, who showed by his act and deeds that his heart is with the American laborer. The crowning climax of a wonderful record came when he told the railroad presidents that he was for the eight-hour day, and did not think the principles arbitrable. He saw the justice of our claim, he had the courage and conviction to urge Congress to give us what in righteousness was our due.

"Four hundred thousand brotherhood railroad men shout the battle cry, 'Vote for Eight-hour Wilson, and the railroad men of old Kentucky will lead the irresistible charge which will sweep Woodrow Wilson to victory.'

The election of a Democratic President will not be of much avail unless he is supported by a Democratic Congress. Therefore, it is of the greatest importance that the Democratic nominees for Congress shall be elected. Fortunately there is little danger of defeat of any of the present incumbents of the office in this State and there will be none if the Democrats do their duty. There is no question of the result in the first, second, fourth, sixth, seventh, eighth, and ninth, but the Republicans are making extravagant claims in the third and fifth, but with little to back them. Reports from Congressman, R. Y. Thomas' district, where the Republicans are massing their forces, are that the Democrats are fully alive to the occasion and will return the popular and useful representative to continue his work for the people, while in the fifth there seems little prospect that the voters will want to swap Swager Sherley, who has served them so faithfully and intelligently, for such a man as "Major" Owens, who has boxed nearly every point of the political compass and has never accomplished anything that has redounded to his own or his country's credit.

Democrats, in order to make assurance doubly sure must not fail to go to the polls and stamp under the rooster, which will insure their votes for the presidential electors and make certain the election of the present delegation, A. W. Barkley, D. W. Kincheloe, R. Y. Thomas, Ben Johnson, Swager Sherley, A. B. Rouse, J. C. Cantrell, Harvey Helm, and W. J. Fields, whose services entitle them to reward.

MOUNTAIN DEMOCRATS ALWAYS TRUE.

A representative of the Democratic campaign Headquarters at Louisville, made a trip through some of the mountain counties last week and found that while the Republicans were making strenuous efforts, with money and otherwise, they were making no inroads upon the Democratic ranks. In fact not a single man who had ever been a Democrat was found who would change his vote this time, but numbers of those who had always voted the Republican ticket said they intended to vote under the rooster in November, which will take in the candidate for president and vice president and the Democratic nominee for Congress. They are enthusiastic over Wilson for his great accomplishments and especially are they grateful to him for having kept the country out of war and by wise and timely legislation procured from a patriotic Congress maintained peace and brought prosperity and plenty to the country. The mountain Democrats are the truest in the country and all the money of Wall Street and the interests cannot swerve them from loyalty.

It means something to be a Democrat where the majority are Republicans and many sacrifices are made for the sake of principle of which the Democratic strongholds know nothing. The Republicans in the mountains can out vote the Democrats and what is more important to them, out counts the Democrats in case of a close election, but they do so solely on might with reference to right. If the Democrats in the other parts of the State give as good an account of themselves as will the true blues of the hills the majority for Wilson and Marshall will roll up in to many thousands.

Every Democrat in Adair county who is interested in a full vote being polled at the November election has got something to do. Men do not become interested by reading political circulars. In order to get some men who have fixed political convictions take an interest in an election, you must talk to them face to face, tell them of the importance of voting. Men often conclude that it is not necessary for them to vote, and accordingly remain at home on election day. The coming election will be the most important one for many years. A President is to be elected, and every man who stands for Woodrow Wilson and his policies should be at the polls. The achievements of President Wilson have made him the greatest living American, and he should be overwhelmingly elected. He will need the vote of Kentucky. The State is Democratic, but the stay at home vote might cause him to lose her thirteen electoral votes. Let the campaign Chairman get busy, send men to the various precincts, perfect organizations, and

WILSON'S REPLY.

Vote for the man who sent this telegram to the president of the American Truth Society, at New York, accusing him of being pro-British and saying he had failed to obtain compliance with American rights.

"Your telegram received. I would feel deeply mortified to have you or anybody like you vote for me. Since you have access to many disloyal Americans and I have not, I will ask you to convey this message to them."

Hughes would not have sent such a message for his right hand. He is too anxious for this disloyal vote to utter a word of protest over their detestable conduct.

Mr. Hughes says the Republican party has been the party of national honor. It will be observed that he speaks in the past tense. He certainly cannot speak of it in the present when the 100 percent candidate is cuddling with the hyphenates and good majority of its members of Congress including leader Mann voted for the McLeomore resolution to surrender American rights on the high sea to Germany. Mr. Hughes is right, if the Republican party was ever the party of national honor it was in the dim and distant past.

Good Reading.

Interesting History.

Recent events connected with the life of Mr. J. E. McGlone, of Carter county, Kentucky, and Missouri, are to say the least interesting.

Mr. McGlone was, for some time clerk of circuit court in Carter county, and during his tenure in office he stole from the State of Kentucky $9,000, which he obtained on fraudulent witness claims.

Mr. McGlone's thievery was not confined to a single act, but it was a continued record of crime stealing a few dollars at a time, until the large sum of $8,000 was secured. He was not like a horse-thief, who is emboldened to commit a lone offense, but with him stealing was studied,

Mr. McGlone was not the kind of a thief that occupied a lowly place in the world; whose influence counted for little, either good or bad. He had had, perhaps, the benefit of good surroundings, and, being elected to a public office, exerted an influence among many.

Mr. McGlone did not deny his guilt. He confessed it in court.

We have not read of any extenuating circumstances in his case. There has certainly been brought to light no new evidence that would have changed the verdict, for he entered a plea of guilty.

Neither have we read of anything in his case that would particularly excite the sympathy or the pity of any who were familiar with it.

We do know that Mr. McGlone paid back the $8,000, evidently having combined thrift with theft.

And yet, withing an hour after having received a sentence, without having seen inside the walls of the penitentiary which yawns for this, the worst thief in the world—the gentleman thief—Mr.
McGlone, accompanied by a Deputy Sheriff, walks to the office of the Governor of Kentucky and receives a pardon.

He has removed to Missouri,
where he is free, while the lowly man who robs the hen-roost, may

Fortunes Smiles on Her

Not unlike a page from fiction, telling how the beautiful working girl awoke one morning to learn she had inherited a fortune is the story of pretty Edith Williams, of Louisville, Ky.

Miss Williams, who is 21 years old, has been in the care of distant relatives since childhood. Up until a few months ago these relatives had received regularly each month from San Francisco a check for $100 for the young woman's maintenance. But recently the checks ceased coming. Miss Williams, thrown upon her own resources, bravely set to work to earn a livelihood. Nevertheless she wondered about the mysterious checks and employed an attorney to make an investigation.

It was found, that Miss Williams' father, who died more than 18 years ago, left his estate in trust for the girl's benefit and named his brother trustee. Four months ago the brother died. It also was found that Miss Williams has inherited a tract of 815 acres in the fertile San Joaquin valley, near Stockton, Cal.

Irrigating a Continent.

The rainfall is very unequal in Australia. Although there are frequent and heavy rains on the eastern highlands, the climate of the plains to the west is exceedingly dry, and the government of New South Wales is planning a system of irrigation so that the soil, which is naturally rich, can be cultivated. There will be an immense reservoir with a dam 240 feet high, to collect the winter floods of the Murrumbidgee river for use in the summer. The reservoir will be one of the largest in the world; It will hold 33,000,000,000 cubic feet of water—a quantity greater than that in Sydney harbor. Some of the irrigation canals will probably be at least 1,000 miles long. The government is already advertising for applicants for the land that will become available for cultivation, and has issued a pamphlet describing the progress of the work.

The supreme court has held the Tennessee law unconstitutional. The law was passed to prevent individuals from keeping liquor at Clubs.

A WEEDING OUT PROCESS USUAL

What Type of Man is Usually Picked for the "Lay Offs?"

When business is poor, the market crowded or the season, dull, in no matter what industry, the "weeding out process" is common, and the great army of employed never know how soon the "axe" will fall.

Have you ever stopped to consider what type of man or woman is first picked for the "lay off?" Is it the strong, robust fellow, with plenty of energy and vigor in his make up or is it the nervous, weak, run-down individual, who considers work drudgery and continually complains of feeling sick and tired. Of course, you will agree that it is the latter class that succumbs to the "weeding out process."

The employer realizes that the physically fit man or woman is the most efficient worker. As efficiency is the watchword of modern industry, there is no place in the present day business world for the nervous, rundown man or woman.

All depends on the condition of the nervous system as the nerves govern absolutely every process that goes on within our bodies. Nearly all functional weaknesses and disorders can be directly traced to weak nerves and depleted vitality.

Every great man of history—every successful man of the day—is possessed of more than an average amount of energy. Some have been especially endowed with this wonderful quality, as were Lincoln, Napoleon, Morgan, Rockefeller and others; and some developed it as did Gladstone and Roosevelt.

Were it possible to chronicle all the failures, not due to lack of brains, but to lack of physical vitality, there would be a list so long as to startle the world.

Tanlac, the new reconstructive tonic, stimulates the nerves. It does even more—it builds up the tissues, invigorates the system, vitalizes the blood, assimilates the food, creates appetite, drives away headaches, sleeplessness, nausea, sour stomach, dizziness and indigestion. Tanlac has proven invaluable for ailments that originate from stomach, kidney and liver disorders and catarrhal affections of the mucous membranes.

Tanlac is being especially introduced in Columbia at the Page & Hamilton drug store, where the Tanlac Man daily explains its merits and what may be expected from its use.

WAR SITUATION

Sept. 27, midnight (via London, Sept. 28, 5:30 a. m.)—In the lull which has occurred after the great two days' battle in which five villages and 5,000 prisoners were taken by the Allies, the correspondent of the Associated Press has had an opportunity to glean many stories from the participants in the struggle. Their stories not only were of courage and heroism, but of a humor and paradox possible only in such complicated and remorseless warfare.

The most wonderful of all the tales told was perhaps that of one of the "tanks," or new armored motor cars, which started for Berlin on its own account. This monstrous land ship, ambling and rumbling along, did not wait on the infantry after the taking of Gueudecourt, but plodded over shell holes and across lots looking for its prey like some prehistoric lizard. In course of time it found a German trench, but as it engaged the occupant with its machine gun it ran out of gasoline.

When the Germans found this strange creature, with its steel hide impenetrable to bullets, stalled, curiosity and a desire for revenge was a fillip to their courage. They went after it with the avidity of prehistoric man stalking a wounded mammoth fast in one of the alleys of the cave dwellers. No such game was ever seen on this western front, marked as it has been by all kinds of bizarre fighting.

The recent rains were badly needed, and the farmers have gone to work with a determination of preparing their ground for grasses and other small grain. This has been a very favorable season in many respects. Nearly all of the crops are unusually good, and prosperity is to be found in every home where the proper amount of energy has been displayed. All labor is employed at satisfactory wages, and number of other laborers could find ready employment. Never in the history of our banking institutions have the assets showed so well. The farmers in general are carrying nice deposits, and every one seems happy and prosperous.

Here's hoping that the constructive legislation now in force might be continued indefinitely.

A serious accident befell Mr. Harry Gwinn Tuesday evening, while in the act of loading logs near Ebenezer church. The canning factory will close its season Tuesday. The output is greater than any year since it was organized. Something over 500,000 cans of tomatoes and the rise of 700 barrels of catsup were prepared for market.

Rev. B. M. Shrive, a prominent minister of Atlanta, Ga., will preach to the Bethel congregation the second Sunday in October. He was formerly pastor at this place and a brief notice of his coming will insure him a crowded house.
